

One Evening Scarf

Pam Greswolde

Inspired by Nancy Wright

This scarf makes up very quickly and can easily be made in one evening. It works well in medium or bulky weight yarn however if you wanted something lighter weight you could use 2 or 3 strands of a lighter weight yarn.

The scarf is designed to be long enough to wrap around your neck once or twice yet still have scarf left to hang down. This would be a great scarf for anyone who really needs to bundle up and stay warm.

Materials:

Hook: N or P

Yarn: 2 skeins of Medium or Bulky weight yarn

Directions:

Chain until it reaches a length that measures fingertip to fingertip.

Row 1: DC in 3rd chain from hook, DC across to the end, ch 3 and turn.

Row 2: (Ch 3 counts as 1st DC throughout), DC across the row.

Rows 3 - 7: Repeat row 2 for 5 additional rows. For a wider scarf make as many rows as needed until desired width. Fasten off and weave in the ends.

Fringe Optional:

I added 4" fringe to the scarf by cutting 8" lengths of yarn, folded in half, with two fringes for each row stitch on each end of scarf.

Taking one piece of yarn at a time fold in half pulling folded end through the stitch at the end of the scarf, pull ends through this loop and pull slightly tight. Do one or two fringe in each row.
